Grand Trip!

[Article By: Yaakov H]

On Wednesday we went to Nickelodeon. It was soooooo fun. We went on rides that were scary and fun at the same time. Mommy forced Eliyahu to go on the Slime Streak. And he did it [Yeah so it was very scary creepy with the way up you went almost as tall as the ceiling]!

Swimming In The Deep

[Article By: Binyamin H]

This sunday I was biking home from seasons. When I arrived home I went to check out the pool since I saw the Hess family swimming. Once I threw on my bathing suit I went into the pool area. When I saw Ayala on the other side of the pool area running to the diving board.

That's when I got worried! I started running to the diving board trying to get there before she could so I could stop her from jumping in. She went behind the diving board and I was halfway across the pool then I ran faster yelling "AYALA STOP DON'T JUMP IN" but she just ignored me like I didn't even exist, she was already more than halfway down the the diving board stopped running and gave up, ayala in the air getting closer to the water I thought that this was the end, she was underwater and I just let myself watch this tragic scene, but thats when her head popped out of the water and she started swimming I was amazed and confused at the same time she could actually swim in the deep while I was still processing what just happened she came out nice and proud and said "I could swim in the deep" so ayala and I jumped in together and watching my little sister swim in the deep for the first time was incredible!!!

Fun Time! Can you spot 6 differences?
